For the European Travel Commission we organized a trans-Atlantic Two-Day Travel Congress which was held in Amsterdam, March 12-14, 1969. The congress, under the theme "Growth and Profitability in the Superjet Age" brought together European and North American executives of air and sea carriers, hoteliers, travel agents, tour operators, and directors of national tourist organizations of Europe and North America. The program was devoted in its entirety to a discussion of matters pertaining to the facilitation and expansion of travel between Europe and North America.

*For period ending
July 29, 1969*

<sup>1</sup> The term "foreign principal" includes, in addition to those defined in section 1(b) of the Act, an individual or organization any of whose activities are directly or indirectly supervised, directed, controlled, financed, or subsidized in whole or in major part by a foreign government, foreign political party, foreign organization or foreign individual. (See Rule 100(a)(9)).

A registrant who represents more than one foreign principal is required to list in the statements he files under the Act only those foreign principals for whom he is not entitled to claim exemption under Section 3 of the Act. (See Rule 208.)

For the European Travel Commission:

- We undertook further distribution of the brochure "How to Be a U.S.A. Travel Ambassador" and continued related public relations activities on behalf of the Travel Ambassador program as described in our previous supplemental statement.
- We produced a travel brochure entitled "Europe--the Now Destination" which appeared with the New York Times edition of Sunday, November 17, 1968. This brochure was further distributed to travel agents with a news release and a fact sheet which identified (for the travel agent) specific tours which had been described in the brochure.
- We commenced preliminary work on arrangements for a two-way trans-Atlantic travel congress scheduled for Amsterdam, The Netherlands, in March, 1969, aimed at promoting increased tourist traffic between the U.S. and Europe, and between Europe and the North American countries.

For the European Travel Commission we produced a brochure entitled "How to Be a U.S.A. Travel Ambassador" intended for the use of American travelers abroad to invite Europeans to Visit the USA. The Travel Ambassador campaign was a direct result of the Commission's offer to cooperate with the U.S. Government in the Administration's efforts to attract more foreign tourists to the United States. The brochure was introduced at a luncheon of the Society of American Travel Writers; it was distributed to travel editors throughout the USA together with an informational press release, and was also distributed to travel agents throughout the country.

Independently, our firm produced a newspaper supplement entitled "Your Invitation to Europe" which ran with the Sunday March 10 edition of The New York Times, The Chicago Tribune and The Los Angeles Times. The supplement was financed by the sale of advertising space to carriers and other travel interests. The European Travel Commission subscribed to one page advertisement on youth travel to Europe.
